Building on the 1st National Conference held at Ohio State University in November 1986, the '89 Conference will:

- Identify current issues in teaching assistant employment and training
- Provide TA supervisors with practical training approaches
- Display current TA training materials including the ERIC collection
- Present discipline specific sessions led by scholars in various fields
- Describe current policies and methods concerning TA employment conditions
- Provide information on funding opportunities for TA programs and projects

These initial ideas will be further developed by a National Coordinating Committee. We are hopeful that the institutional members of the Alliance will support the conference.
